First-Ever Parent Partner Learning Collaborative Convening, Austin, Texas

On October 6–7, the Children's Trust Fund Alliance and Casey Family Programs partnered to host the first-ever Parent Partner Peer Learning Convening in Austin, Texas! This exciting milestone brought together Parent Partner Learning Collaborative cohort members and other established Parent Partner Programs from across the country to connect, share experiences, and learn from one another.

Through engaging discussions, peer learning, and collaborative activities, participants explored strategies for expanding parent mentoring nationwide, building financial sustainability, strengthening partnerships with lived experts, and measuring program success. The convening also provided opportunities for teams to exchange ideas, reflect on lessons learned, and develop actionable next steps.

Together, we took an important step toward a shared vision: ensuring every parent navigating the child protection system has access to a mentor with lived experience.

And of course, we couldn't be in Texas without a little Texas flair! Our Texas Night dinner brought everyone together for an evening of great food, conversation, and even some line dancing! Be sure to check out the photos throughout this newsletter for a glimpse of the wonderful moments, connections, and memories made during the convening!

A special thank you to everyone who participated, shared their expertise, and helped make this inaugural gathering such a meaningful opportunity for learning, collaboration, and connection!
